痛(いた)みの 訴(うった)え

A Pain Complaint — Asking, Observing, and Reporting — Scenario Dialogue

Can-do: Respond to a resident's pain with concern, ask where and how much it hurts, reassure them, and report clearly to the nurse — without medicating.

1 · Dialogue & Why — 会話

Tanaka-san (resident)

ねえ、腰(こし)が 痛(いた)いのよ。

Excuse me, my back hurts.

Why: ねえ = a soft 'hey / excuse me' to get your attention. 腰(こし) = 'lower back'; 痛(いた)い = 'hurts / painful'. When a resident reports pain, stop what you're doing and respond with full attention and concern — never brush it off with '大丈夫(だいじょうぶ)でしょう' ('you're probably fine'), which is a classic NG response.

Hana (caregiver)

つらいですね。どの あたりが 痛(いた)いですか。

That must be hard. Around where does it hurt?

Why: Empathise first — つらいですね ('that must be hard') shows you take it seriously. Then localise: どのあたり = 'around where / which area'. Pinpointing the location is the first thing the nurse will need, so you ask it right away.

Tanaka-san (resident)

この へん。動(うご)くと 痛(いた)むの。

Around here. It hurts when I move.

Why: このへん = 'around here' (へん = area). 動(うご)くと痛(いた)む = 'it hurts when I move' (〜と = 'whenever/when'). Whether pain is triggered by movement, or constant, is important information — note exactly what the resident tells you, in their words.

Hana (caregiver)

いつから 痛(いた)みますか。どれくらい 痛(いた)いですか。

Since when has it hurt? How much does it hurt?

Why: Two more key questions: いつから ('since when' — the timeline) and どれくらい ('how much' — the severity). These build the factual picture. For severity, a simple scale helps: 少(すこ)しですか、とてもですか ('a little, or a lot?'), or onomatopoeia — ズキズキ (throbbing) / ジンジン (dull ache).

Tanaka-san (resident)

さっきから。ズキズキ するの。

Since a little while ago. It's throbbing.

Why: さっきから = 'since a little while ago'. ズキズキ is the onomatopoeia for throbbing pain — Japanese uses these sound-words to describe pain precisely (ズキズキ throbbing, ジンジン tingling/dull, チクチク pricking). Learning them lets you report the KIND of pain accurately.

Hana (caregiver)

つらいですね。大丈夫ですよ。すぐに 看護師さんを 呼びますね。

That must be hard. It's all right — I'll call the nurse right away.

Why: Here is the caregiver's boundary: you observe and report, you do NOT medicate or diagnose. すぐに ('right away') 呼びますね ('I'll call') escalates promptly to the 看護師 (nurse), who decides on treatment. Reassure the resident while you get help — never leave them feeling dismissed.

Hana (caregiver)

先に 楽な 姿勢に なりましょうか。無理に 動かないで ください ね。すぐ 戻りますね。

First, shall we get you into a comfortable position? Please don't force yourself to move. I'll be right back.

Why: While waiting, ease the resident: 楽な姿勢 = 'a comfortable position' (楽 = at ease, 姿勢 = posture). Helping them settle and promising すぐ戻ります ('I'll be right back') keeps them calm and cared-for. Then you observe — face, swelling, warmth (熱感) — to report. 先に (Ep 14) puts comfort before the phone call; 無理に 動かないで (無理に from Ep 14) protects the back while you fetch help.

Hana (caregiver)

（看護師に）田中さんが、さっきから 腰の 痛みを 訴えています。熱感は ありません。

(to the nurse) Tanaka-san has been complaining of lower-back pain since a little while ago. There's no heat/warmth.

Why: The factual handover — the same clear reporting as 申し送り (ks-10). State WHO (田中さん), WHAT (腰の痛み), SINCE WHEN (さっきから), and an OBSERVATION (熱感はありません = 'no warmth'). 訴える = 'to complain of (a symptom)', the standard care/medical verb. Concise facts help the nurse act fast.

2 · Key Vocabulary — 語彙

#	日本語	ROMAJI	ENGLISH	メモ / NOTES
1	腰	koshi	lower back; waist
2	痛い	itai	painful; it hurts
3	つらい		hard; painful (to bear)
4	あたり		area; around
5	動く	ugoku	to move
6	痛む	itamu	to hurt; ache
7	いつから		since when

8	どれくらい		how much; to what extent
9	さっき		a little while ago
10	ズキズキ		throbbing (pain)
11	看護師(かんごし)	kangoshi	nurse
12	呼(よ)ぶ	yobu	to call
13	大丈夫(だいじょうぶ)	daijoubu	okay; all right (recycled from Ep 14)
14	楽(らく)	raku	comfortable; at ease
15	姿勢(しせい)	shisei	posture; position
16	先(さき)に	sakini	first; before anything else (recycled from Ep 14)
17	無理(むり)に	murini	by force; straining (recycled from Ep 14)
18	訴(うった)える	uttaeru	to complain of (a symptom)
19	熱感(ねつかん)	nekkan	warmth; heat (a sign)

3 · Patterns to Reuse — 使える かたち

PATTERN	MEANING & USE
どの あたりが 痛(いた)みますか	'Around where does it hurt?' — localise the pain
いつから / どれくらい 痛(いた)いですか	'Since when / how much?' — timeline + severity
ズキズキ / ジンジン	Onomatopoeia for the KIND of pain — throbbing / dull
すぐに 看護師(かんごし)さんを 呼(よ)びますね	Escalate promptly — caregivers report, nurses treat

～さんが、～を 訴えています	Factual symptom report to the nurse (who/what/since when/sign)

4 · Practice — れんしゅう

Say / write it in Japanese, then check with the answer key.

#	SAY THIS IN JAPANESE	YOUR ANSWER
1	Where does Tanaka-san hurt? A) 頭 B) 腰 C) 足 D) 腕
2	What kind of pain is it? A) ジンジン B) ズキズキ C) 熱感が ある D) 動かなくても 痛い
3	Ease them: 'First, shall we get you into a comfortable position?'
4	Report to the nurse: 'Tanaka-san is complaining of back pain; no warmth.'
5	Tell her not to strain: 'Please don't force yourself to move.'

5 · Answer Key — こたえ

1. 腰が 痛いのよ。
2. ズキズキ するの。
3. 先に 楽な 姿勢に なりましょうか。
4. 田中さんが 腰の 痛みを 訴えています。熱感は ありません。
5. 無理に 動かないで ください ね。