朝(あさ)の 介助(かいじょ)：起床(きしょう)

Morning Care — Greeting & Waking a Resident — Scenario Dialogue

Can-do: Greet a resident respectfully in the morning, ask how they slept and feel, and gently help them get up.

1 · Dialogue & Why — 会話

Hana (caregiver)

田中(たなか)さん、おはようございます。

Good morning, Tanaka-san.

Why: Always open with the resident's name + さん. It shows respect and helps a resident (especially with dementia) orient to who and where they are. Use the full おはようございます — the short おはよう is only for family and close friends, never for a resident you're caring for.

Tanaka-san (resident)

ああ、おはよう。

Oh, good morning.

Why: The resident answers casually (おはよう) — elderly people often speak plainly, and that is perfectly fine coming from them to you. You still keep the polite form. This one-way politeness (you polite, them casual) is normal and expected in care.

Hana (caregiver)

よく 眠(ねむ)れましたか。

Did you sleep well?

Why: よく = 'well'. 眠(ねむ)れました is the past of 眠(ねむ)れる, the potential form ('to be able to sleep') — asking if they were able to sleep well is softer and more caring than the blunt 寝(ね)ましたか ('did you sleep?'). The 〜か at the end makes it a question. A sleep check is the standard, kind way to start morning care.

Tanaka-san (resident)

ええ、よく 眠(ねむ)れました。

Yes, I slept well.

Why: ええ is a soft, warm 'yes' — gentler than はい and very common in speech. Notice the resident reuses the caregiver's exact phrase (よく眠(ねむ)れました). Echoing the question's words is a natural, easy way to answer in Japanese.

Hana (caregiver)

それは よかったです。気分(きぶん)は いかがですか。

That's good to hear. How are you feeling?

Why: それは よかったです = 'that's good (to hear)', using よかった, the past of いい — a warm way to react to good news. いかが is the polite form of どう ('how'), so 気分(きぶん)は いかがですか is a more respectful 'how do you feel?' than 気分(きぶん)は どうですか. Checking mood after sleep is a natural, caring follow-up.

Tanaka-san (resident)

大丈夫(だいじょうぶ)ですよ。

I'm fine.

Why: 大丈夫 = 'okay / fine'. The final よ softly reassures you ('I'm fine, don't worry'). 大丈夫 is one of the most useful words in caregiving — you'll both ask it ('大丈夫ですか？') and hear it all day.

Hana (caregiver)

では、起きましょうか。ゆっくりで大丈夫ですよ。

Then, shall we get up? There's no rush — take your time.

Why: では = 'well then', signalling the next step. 起きましょうか uses ～ましょうか = 'shall we ～?' — you invite the resident to act with you rather than ordering them. Respecting their autonomy this way is the heart of good care (自立支援). ゆっくりで大丈夫 ('slowly is fine') removes pressure — kinder, and safer against falls.

Tanaka-san (resident)

ありがとう。

Thank you.

Why: The resident says the casual ありがとう. When YOU thank a resident, use the fuller ありがとうございます — again the one-way politeness of the care relationship.

Hana (caregiver)

お手伝いしますね。

I'll help you, okay?

Why: お手伝いします is the humble form of 手伝う ('to help'): お + verb-stem + します lowers yourself politely while offering to serve — exactly right for staff helping a resident. The ね gently seeks connection and agreement ('I'll help you, alright?'), so it feels warm rather than pushy.

2 · Key Vocabulary — 語彙

| # | 日本語 | ROMAJI | ENGLISH | メモ / NOTES |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | おはようございます | | good morning (polite) | |
| 2 | おはよう | | good morning (casual — what a resident says back to you) | |
| 3 | よく | | well | |
| 4 | 眠る | nemuru | to sleep | |
| 5 | ええ | | yes (soft) | |
| 6 | 気分 | kibun | feeling; mood | |
| 7 | いかが | | how (polite) | |

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 8 | 大丈夫(だいじょうぶ) | daijoubu | okay; fine | |
| 9 | ～よ | | gentle reassuring emphasis | |
| 10 | では | | well then | |
| 11 | 起(お)きる | okiru | to get up | |
| 12 | ゆっくり | | slowly; unhurried | |
| 13 | ありがとう | | thanks (casual) | |
| 14 | 手伝(てつだ)う | tetsudau | to help | |
| 15 | ～ね | | seeking gentle agreement | |

3 · Patterns to Reuse — 使える かたち

| PATTERN | MEANING & USE |
|---|---|
| [Name]さん、おはようございます | Respectful morning greeting — always name + さん first |
| よく ～ましたか | 'Did you ～ well?' — for sleep, eating, resting |
| ～は いかがですか | Polite 'How is ～?' — feelings, health, comfort |
| ～ましょうか | Gentle 'Shall we ～?' — invite, don't command |
| お + [stem] + します | Humble 'I'll do ～ for you' — お手伝[てつだ]いします, お持[も]ちします |

4 · Practice — れんしゅう

Say / write it in Japanese, then check with the answer key.

| # | SAY THIS IN JAPANESE | YOUR ANSWER |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | How did Tanaka-san answer about her sleep? A) 少(すこ)し 眠(ねむ)れました B) よく 眠(ねむ)れました C) 眠(ねむ)れませんでした D) 大丈夫(だいじょうぶ)です | |

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 2 | Hana wants to help Tanaka-san get up. Which line is the humble offer? A) 手伝(てつだ)って B) お手伝(てつだ)いしますね C) 手伝(てつだ)ってあげます D) 起(お)きてください | |
| 3 | Ask politely 'How are you feeling?' | |
| 4 | React warmly to good news: 'That's good to hear.' | |
| 5 | Very polite (尊敬語(そんけいご)): 'Were you able to rest well?' | |

5 · Answer Key — こたえ

1. よく 眠(ねむ)れました。
2. お手伝(てつだ)いしますね。
3. 気分(きぶん)は いかがですか。
4. それは よかったです。
5. よく お休(やす)みになれましたか。